

for TV

episodes

or into kelp high-rise

concealing curtains

passing

through our forming

Carcharodon full swells

'counted last member of genus Lamnidae' ? though unknowing fact like that we count only

seal

pulse

orca pings

ringing

electric

along lateral line

as killer whales

learn to hunt us

in pairs

disabling sundial dorsal

fin first then liver

passing

out of our shark carcass

down orca throat

'leaving the long cadaver to wash up on shore' - one long stroke of the clock left - 'uneaten except for liver deleted'

meanwhile

ticking across

our globule's