

The Things He's Done

He sings of salt and sadness, of memories laced with sin, trading storms for mysteries, stretched like an elephant skin.

The song about the shipwreck, the song about the fist, of legionnaires and millionaires, spun with a gambler's twist.