

Display Questions /

Genuine Questions³

Whose is the hamster – Julie's or Dougal's?

How do you do your hair like that?

What is the name of Dougal's hamster?

What food do you love?

What is the word we use for the place the hamster lives?

Why do you want to learn English?

Does Julie share her sweets with Dougal?

Did you have pets?

When do we use the present continuous?

Can you remember your first kiss?

Why does Dougal put the hamster into the sink?

How did you get here?

Can Dougal's hamster swim?

Who cut your rope?

When you said say what did you mean to say?

Do you speak the language of birds?

Did Dougal mean to drown the hamster?

Where is your mother?

How can we put this into the past?

What are you qualified to do?

What did Dougal do to show he is sorry?

When you close your eyes what do you see?

Should that be present continuous or present perfect?

How many hairs are there on your arm?

How many sweets does Julie have left?

What is the music that moves your feet?

How can we change this expression?

?

³ Display question: A question to which the asker already knows the answer. Teachers often ask these questions (for example, What colour is your shirt?) to get learners to display their knowledge of the language. Lightbown and Spada, p.237.